ADDITIONAL NOTES:

- The circular, longitudinal and oblique muscle (in the stomach) make up one overall layer that is collectively called the “muscularis”.
- There is also a thin covering layer on the outside of each organ called the “serosa”.
- The open space/cavity in the middle of the organ is called the “lumen”.

DIGESTIVE LAYERS

www.zerobio.com